

COLLEGE RECRUITING DO'S & DON'T'S

"MUST DO - DON'T DO - MAYBE DO"

MUST DO

- Train. FOCUS on continually getting bigger, stronger, faster, and better!
- Study
- Play Arsenal
- Perfect Game showcases, tournaments, and ID events
- Make a video at practice
- Information sheet
- Write coaches
- Due diligence
- Respond to every coach that shows interest
- Take an SAT course

DON'T DO

- Do not spend a lot of money on expensive computer-generated, parent produced packages or videos. Stats are meaningless, videos not much better. If a coach wants something, he'll ask for it. When he does you give it to him but a big Hollywood production screams "anal, controlling parent!" Avoid at all costs!
- Do not attend any expensive showcases, or showcase events other than PG, PBR, or the Carpenters Cup unless told otherwise by the Barths.
- Do not attend college camps just because you got invited.

MAYBE DO

- Do an ID camp as a sophomore to see what they look at.
- Do a college instructional camp at your # 1 school when they personally invite you.
